“Love It” or “Leave It”: What is the Real Story on Glass?

Be part of the conversation on container glass and its presence in the curbside recycling stream. Hear from a panel of experts representing a range of industry perspectives:

Collector: Susan Robinson, Federal Public Affairs Director, Waste Management. Drawing on national data and environmental analyses to examine the role of glass recycling in Sustainable Material Management and the Circular Economy; efforts across the value chain to improve recycling solutions for glass collected in curbside recycling programs.

MRF Operator: Greg Maxwell, Vice President, Resource Management Companies. Receiving, processing, and marketing post-consumer container glass from Midwest residential curbside recycling programs.

Glass Recycler: Curt Bucey, Executive Vice President, Strategic Materials. Identifying markets and manufacturing options for glass cullet, and assessing environmental and economic impacts of the use of recycled glass as cullet quality has changed over time.

Glass Container Industry: Lynn Bragg, President, Glass Packaging Institute. Manufacturing needs and challenges when using recycled glass and importance of recycled glass cullet in production of new glass containers.

Each panelist will provide their perspectives which will be followed by an open discussion with attendees and the panelists.
